

ICT April Exam Grade 5

Review Sheet

Name:

Date:

Choose a definition in Column B that matches with the word or phrase in Column A and write its letter in Column C. Please note that you can only use one letter once, and that the table is split into two parts. The two pages can be viewed independently.

Column A		Column B		Column C
1)	RAM	a)	Read only memory	1)	e
2)	Input device	b)	any software program that automatically plays, displays, or downloads advertisements to a computer in a manner that is unexpected and unwanted by the computer user	2)	h
3)	maintenance	c)	central processing unit	3)	f
4)	operating system	d)	the process of adding new features and fixing problems, such as bugs and compatibility with new hardware, operating systems, or other types of software	4)	k
5)	ROM	e)	Random-access memory	5)	a
6)	output device	f)	the act of keeping computer equipment in good working condition by making repairs, correcting problems, etc.	6)	j
7)	adware	g)	horizontal areas in a worksheet identified by numbers on the left side of the worksheet window	7)	b
8)	CPU	h)	any device used to input data and commands into the computer, i.e. keyboard, mouse, scanner, microphone	8)	c
9)	upgrading	i)	equations used to calculate values in a spreadsheet cell that begins with an equal (=) sign	9)	d
10)	rows	j)	any device that accepts processed data (information) from the computer and presents the results to the user, i.e. monitor, printer, speakers, plotter	10)	g
		k)	system software that controls the execution of computer programs and allows hardware and other software to communicate with each other
			Total

11)	header	l)	a tool in a GUI at the right side or bottom of the screen allowing up and down or left and right movement in a document or a worksheet	11)	r
12)	spyware	m)	vertical areas in a worksheet identified by letters at the top of the worksheet window	12)	o
13)	redo	n)	content in the bottom margin area of a page in a document, spreadsheet, or slide, that typically contain elements such as the page number and date	13)	t
14)	menu bar	o)	a type of malware program that locates and saves data from users without them knowing about it	14)	s
15)	columns	p)	a command that allows users to cancel the last command or action; CTRL + Z in Windows	15)	m
16)	footer	q)	keystrokes that enact the same commands available in the menus of a program, usually involving 2 or 3 keys depressed simultaneously, i.e. CTRL + S	16)	n
17)	icons	r)	content in the top margin area of a page in a document, spreadsheet, or slide, that typically contain elements such as the title, page number, or name of the author	17)	v
18)	undo	s)	horizontal strip that contains lists of available options for a certain program; in Windows, generally residing at the top of each open window; on a Macintosh, always fixed on the top of the screen	18)	p
19)	scroll bar	t)	a command that allows users to repeat the last command or action that was undone; CTRL + Y or F3 in Windows	19)	l
20)	Shortcuts	u)	details that an operating system, such as Windows or Mac OS, stores about a file, such as the author, creation date and time, and modification date and time	20)	q
		v)	graphic images or symbols that represent applications, files, disk drives, documents, embedded objects, or linked objects in an operating system
			Total		